About Spring

The Quality Incubator

How we work with Spring?

Spring as an "incubator", their Impact Startup Visa Program is designed for entrepreneurs not from Canada, offering them the chance to move to Canada and grow their businesses. They can provide all the knowledge and support you need and OneHub execute the process with you! Here are the areas Spring would take care of:

Validation and Endorsement

Spring act as designated organizations that can endorse startups for SUV programs. By backing a startup, the incubator signals to immigration authorities that the business is viable, innovative, and has the potential for growth and job creation. This endorsement is typically a critical requirement for the SUV application. Spring has the authority to provide the Letter of Support for a Start-up Visa (SUV) application that is recognized by the government.

Access to Resources

Startups associated with Spring gain access to a wealth of resources that can help them grow. These resources often include office space, operational tools, technology, and administrative services. The support is designed to reduce the overhead for startups, allowing them to focus on scaling their business.

Mentorship and Guidance

Spring provide startups with invaluable mentorship and guidance from experienced entrepreneurs, industry experts, and business professionals. This mentorship covers various aspects of running and growing a business, including strategic planning, marketing, product development, and financial management.

Networking Opportunities

Spring offers startups extensive networking opportunities. Incubators connect entrepreneurs with potential investors, partners, customers, and other startups. These connections can be crucial for securing funding, forming strategic partnerships, and accelerating growth.

Educational Programs and Workshops

Spring often organize workshops, seminars, and training programs to educate startup founders on various aspects of business management and entrepreneurship. These educational opportunities are designed to equip startups with the knowledge and skills they need to succeed.

Spring's Background
